

FIVE ARRESTED BY LIQUOR RAIDERS IN SALEM

Crippled Children Of Salem Have Chance For Education Equivalent To City Schools

Mrs. Roy Harris, Instructor, Finds Work Among Unfortunates Very Interesting; Tells Of
Many and Varied Experiences

Scholastic instruction similar to that given pupils in public schools, is given Salem children unable to attend school due to physical ailments.

This course for Salem's disabled children, was started in January, 1927 by the board of education, and since that time a total of 1,400 calls have been made to homes by Mrs. Roy Harris, visiting teacher, who has been appointed for the work by the board of education.

Fifteen children have received instruction equal to that of regular classrooms and despite physical disabilities have been given all advantages of moral and mental education.

The 15 children visited by Mrs. Harris, five were forced out of school work from a period of one to three months on account of accidents. The remaining ten, four have improved in health sufficiently that they are able to return to their classrooms, and by the home study course offered them, take up work which they otherwise would have missed.

Two pupils continue the home course while being given medical or surgical treatment at City hospital. Those who show improvement are returned to school by transportation furnished by the board of education.

Several children still remain in homes and are visited daily by Mrs. Harris.

"While these home students miss the incentive, fellowship and encouragement of the classroom, they are ambitious."

"In spite of their physical disabilities, the children compare favorably with pupils of the same age who are attending school. Each child at home realizes that he will be required to recite the entire assignment as in regular schools, so the lessons are, in the majority of cases, conscientiously prepared," Mrs. Harris states.

Pupils are graded as in schoolroom work. Each grade in elementary school has been represented, and the pupil completes his work in one grade, as he is promoted to the higher class, as in the school.

Since it is impossible for the visiting teacher to supervise preparation of lessons, the parents, especially mothers, cooperate in insisting that the assignments be completed.

"Parents in every way express full appreciation of help the children receive from this service.

"When we consider that until recently, these house-bound children had no provision offered them in instruction, we can well understand the appreciation felt by them," Mrs. Harris said.

FOUR DROWN IN CREEK AS CAR TAKES PLUNGE

Women found Under Auto
After Leaving Road;
Two Unknown

Marion, O., March 30. — Four women, two of them as yet unidentified, were drowned some time last night 16 miles west of here, when their automobile failed to make "death curve" on the Harding Highway at the Brownlee bridge and plunged into a creek, where the water was eight feet deep.

Ruth Lukens, of Marion, and Ada Michener, Waynesville, the latter believed to be a teacher in the Chargin Falls schools, are two of the victims.

The bodies of the women were taken to an undertaking establishment at Caledonia, a Marion county village, near the scene of the accident.

Details of the accident are vague, but it is believed machine plunged into the creek and overturned just after 10 o'clock last night. Witnesses on two of the women stopped at 10:10.

The overturned car, two wheels of which were visible, was sighted by a bus driver this morning. Wrecking crews were called and the bodies were recovered shortly before noon today.

This is the third machine to go into this creek within the last two months.

Lake Sailor Taken To Death Row At Ohio Penitentiary

Columbus, March 30. — "Davey Jones' Locker" today yawned for James T. Nevins, Cleveland sailor, who was received into "death row" at the Ohio state penitentiary here last night.

Under cover of darkness, Cuyahoga county authorities brought the doomed sailor here. Convicted of killing Don C. Prentiss, Detroit, once a high official of the General Motors Corporation, while both were being held in the county jail at Cleveland, Nevins' ship of life is scheduled to go down into the sea of eternity on July 1, via the electric chair.

Nevins was a federal prisoner in the bastille, under sentence to serve four years in the Atlanta penitentiary for misuse of the mails, when he beat Prentiss to death with a lead pipe.

STUDENTS ENTER CONTEST AT KENT

Fourteen Make Trip to Participate
In Scholarship Event; Teachers
Accompany Them

Fourteen students of the Salem High school, accompanied by some of the teachers, went to Kent Saturday to participate in the district scholarship contest at the normal college there.

These contests are sponsored by the state department of education and are being held at all state colleges.

High schools, which have less than 500 students enrolled had to take a county contest before entering the district contest. Salem High has over the required number for the county contest. The tests are on subject matter the students have in high school.

Winners in the district contests will go to Columbus for the finals.

FARMERS SLAIN AFTER ROBBERY

Aged Mother and Son Killed; Home
Fired By Bandits; Neighbors
Hear Shooting

Elkton, Md., March 30. — Mrs. Anna Mahoney, 82, and her 50-year-old son, Edward, were shot and killed in their farmhouse near here early today.

Aroused by shots neighbors went to the Mahoney home when they saw the flames but the blaze was beyond their control and they were unable to reach the bodies.

Firemen and police officials agreed on the theory the couple had been killed by bandits and the house set afire to conceal the crime. Both Mrs. Mahoney and her bachelor son were known to keep large sums of money about their home.

Sermons and Music Tell
Of Resurrection Of Jesus Christ

The story of the resurrection of Jesus Christ will be told in sermon and song in Salem churches Sunday, when Easter is celebrated.

Blossoms that grace sacred edifices will speak of new life, evidenced by all nature on this day of the Christian calendar.

Special programs to be given Sunday include:

PRESBYTERIAN

The choir of the Presbyterian church will present the sacred cantata "The Greatest Love" at the morning service for worship at 11 a. m. Sunday.

Numbers in the cantata are: Opening chorus; duet, "The Light Has Come," Miss Grace P. Orr and Robert L. Wright; solo and chorus, "The Morn of Victory," William King and choir; chorus, "Lead Me," choir; solo, "The Greatest Love," R. L. Wright; trio, "Peace Be With You," Miss Orr, H. E. Albright and Lester Kille; solo, "Blessed Is the Nation," Miss Ora Vincent; solo and chorus, "The Lord Is King," Homer Taylor and choir; solo, "Thy Will Be Done," Miss Faye Smith; chorus, "He Ruleth Forever," final chorus, "The End of the World," benediction; postlude, "Hallelujah Chorus."

The offertory is "A Vision." At the evening service the pastor, Dr. P. H. Gordon, will speak on "The Resurrection." The choir will sing an anthem at this service, "Let the Righteous Be Glad." Miss Orr will sing the offertory solo, "Hosanna."

VILLAGE SUED FOR DAMAGES

Columbiana named In Suit
By Farmer; Sewer Is
Cause of Action

Lisbon, March 30. — The village of Columbiana, on account of its sewage disposal plant constructed recently along the banks of a stream just north of the town, has an $8,000 damage case on its hands, filed with Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine late Friday by John C. Fellers.

Fellers owns a farm home, located on a 52 acre farm just north of Columbiana and has been living there, with his family, for a number of years. He claims that a stream of pure and wholesome water flowed through his land, adding to the value of the same on account of his stock and agricultural activities.

When the town of Columbiana constructed its sewage disposal plant along the banks of the stream and emptied the refuse into the waters of the stream, the water was rendered unfit for use either by man or beast.

Fellers asks the court to give him $8,000 damages, and also to enjoin the town of Columbiana from continuing to pollute the stream.

The action was filed in the court by Attorney Fred J. Heim of Youngstown.

CORONERS CHECK KILLING OF MAN

Companion Claims Doctor Refused
Assistance Because He Was Intoxicated At Time

Alliance, March 30. — Alliance police were marking time today, awaiting the completion of a two-county investigation into the death of Richard Ward, 58, of East Ely st, who died at the Alliance City hospital Thursday morning from a broken neck as the result of an automobile accident.

Dr. T. C. McQuate, Stark county coroner, conducted his investigation into the man's death and returned an accident verdict.

Dr. Warden is expected to investigate claims of Cornell Winans, a companion of Ward, that a physician refused to give Ward medical attention after the accident because Ward was intoxicated.

The doctor accused, stated that Ward did not appear to be badly injured, that Winans brought the man to his home here, he told police.

Neighbors called police several hours later when they discovered Ward's condition. The man was taken to the hospital late Wednesday where he died Thursday morning from a broken neck.

Bad Weather On Easter Menu

Columbus, Mar. 30. — Cast a wary eye cloudwise before you venture out into the open with your new Easter outfit tomorrow, because unsettled weather conditions are forecast and the weatherman may pull a few April fool tricks a day in advance.

As incredible as it seems, snow has been forecast for the northern part of the state tomorrow, and showers may put a damper on Easter activities in districts.

Clouds, not to be outdone, will go on parade tomorrow. Cold temperatures may provide other inconveniences.

DAMAGES GIVEN TO PLAINTIFF IN SEWER ACTION

No Allowance Is Made
For Illness In Action

Lisbon, March 30. — After four and one-half days of active trial in the common pleas court here, a jury late Friday afternoon returned a verdict in favor of Leah and Henry M. Templin and against the city of Salem, for $500 damages.

The case was one of those growing out of the trunk line sewer, maintained by Salem for a number of years, which empties into a stream of water near to the country home of the Templins in Goshen township, Mahoning county.

The jury, answering special interrogatives, submitted by the defendant to be answered in the event that the issues of the case were found in favor of the plaintiffs, awarded $350 for the loss of the rental value of the farm property, and $150 for inconvenience and discomfort suffered, and deprivation of the comfortable enjoyment of the farm home by reason of the sewer.

No amount of damages were awarded for loss of time caused by illness on the part of members of the family.

The plaintiffs asked $5,000 damages in the case. A motion will be filed asking for a new trial.

GAME PRESERVE LODGE RAIDED

Claim State Property Was Scene Of
Many Wild Parties; Tenant
Issues Denial

Portsmouth, O., March 30. — Citizens of this county awoke this morning to learn that the lodge of the Roosevelt game preserve, one of the show places of this district, had allegedly been turned into a "road house."

State prohibition agents, headed by Deputy E. O. Farmer, raided the place yesterday and confiscated a jug half full of whiskey and found a "party" in progress.

J. W. Thompson, head of the State Fish and Game department, was notified at his Columbus office and immediately came here. The incident was not made public until late last night.

J. A. Weber, superintendent of the lodge, and another employee will be suspended, Thompson declared. Weber will also be obliged to appear before the state director at Columbus Monday to answer to the charges.

Childhood, Youth And Old Age Share Alike Reverence, Joys And Peace Of Easter Morning

Salem residents will awaken tomorrow to greet the Easter Day with three thoughts uppermost in their minds.

Eggs, by the thousands and coated with nearly as many colors; together with the choice delicacies they are symbolic of, will occupy the paramount place in the tri-cornered spotlight of the day.

Clothes, which more than likely took months of planning and saving, will take the second square of the season's limelight.

Last, but far from least, of all, there will be the church solemnities which annually mark the observance of the resurrection of Christ.

With the admonition to "sleep tight," children will be tucked into their beds early tonight. In most instances, as is natural, they won't drop off to sleep quickly. They will think of the "goodies" that tomorrow will bring.

And while they tussle about in "dreamland," a veritable and imposing army of "Easter bunnies" will skip helter-skelter through the city.

A trail of eggs, thousands upon thousands, will be left in the wake of the "bunny boys." They will be of all colors, some "bronzed" in solid hues, others resembling camouflage, still others tinted half with wide stripes around their middles, and all representing the "rainbow of contentment."

POCKETED FINE CHARGE LODGED AGAINST GROH

Dover Mayor Faces More
Charges In Effort To Oust Him

CASE GOES BEFORE
GOVERNOR COOPER

State "Dry" Ace Filed
Bribery Charges In
Official's Case

Dover, O., March 30. — Mayor Peter J. Groh, of this town of 8,000 people, charged with accepting a $50 bribe from a state prohibition agent today found fuel added to the fires of disgrace following further charges that he had "pocketed" liquor fines instead of turning them over to the city.

Ed Little, "ace" of the prohibition department, who obtained the first evidence against Groh, alleged that these "pocketed" fines would total approximately $6,000.

He declared that he had affidavits showing that several persons were fined, and this was not listed on the docket. In another instance, Little stated, Groh had fined a liquor violator $500 and only $150 of it was entered on the mayor's books.

"Aid" Test Soon

Groh will undergo the "aid" test next week.

On Tuesday, he will appear before Gov. Cooper, to answer to charges filed by State Prohibition Commissioner R. R. Beetham of nonfeasance, misfeasance and malfeasance in public office. As the evidence is strong against the mayor, according to Beetham, Gov. Cooper will ask for his resignation.

Up to the time of his arrest the mayor was known as a "reformer." He led the drive to clear the city of drunks, and was prominently identified with the Sunday movies war.

Groh is specifically charged with accepting a $500 bribe from Ed Little, to provide "protection" for a mythical carload of liquor that was to have been run through Dover.

450 CHILDREN ATTEND HUNT

Annual Easter Event Is Held Indoors As Rain Falls

Four hundred and fifty children gathered at the Memorial building Saturday morning for the annual Easter egg hunt, staged by Joe Kelley, manager at the building.

Each kiddie received one egg and some of them found two and three.

This annual event is one of the most enjoyable of the year for the children of the city.

It was planned to hold the hunt at Centennial park, but owing to the inclemency of the weather it was at the Memorial building.

Gas Tax Conference Looms As Week's High Spot At Capital

Groups Will Meet Cooper To Present Increase
Reasons; Executive May Urge Passage If
Adherents Have Sufficient Followers

Columbus, Mar. 30. — The death of the Weaver bill, providing for Bible reading in the public schools, by decree of the house schools committee, and the introduction and passage by the house of the Wendt bill, appropriating approximately $114,500,000 to defray the cost of highway improvements and other state governmental operations during the coming two years, constitute highlights of Ohio legislative activities this week.

The fate of the proposal to increase the state gasoline tax one cent per gallon is expected to be decided upon at a conference at the governor's office Monday. Conferences will include Governor Cooper and representatives of auto clubs, rural interests, chambers of commerce and organizations urging increased highway construction.

Governor To Investigate

In the event the governor becomes convinced there is sufficient demand throughout the state for raising the gas tax to four cents, he will support the proposal.

The house temperance committee endorsed the Piper bill, which seeks to prohibit the manufacture, sale or possession of malt preparations for use in making intoxicating liquors.

The house highways committee recommended passage of the Sullivan-Bostwick bill, to increase the state gasoline tax to four from three cents per gallon, and the Creighton bill, providing for a state rural highway police force.

While house members are desirous of either adjourning or recessing at the close of the coming week, senate leaders indicated they may in (Continued on Page 5)

Claim Lot In Village Needed For
Addition To New Waterford
School; May Appropriate

Lisbon, Mar. 30. — A jury has been drawn from the jury wheel by Sheriff W. J. Barlow and Clerk Frank Ballantine, the members of which have been summoned to appear in the probate court on Thursday, April 4 for the trial of the appropriation case brought by the Board of Education of the New Waterford district against Eva Anna and Joseph O. Johnson, of East Liverpool, who are the owners of lot 3 in Taylor's and Young's second addition to New Waterford.

The case will be prosecuted by Prosecuting Attorney John Baucknecht.

The land sought to be appropriated by the board of education lays adjacent to the New Waterford school building and is needed to build a new addition to the school.

Ten Places Visited By Raiders During Activities

Five persons are in the county jail at Lisbon following liquor raids conducted in Salem last night by combined forces of state, county and city.

State prohibition men appeared at the sheriff's office in Lisbon Friday evening and asked aid in making the raids here.

Sheriff W. J. Barlow and Deputies Harroff, Lewis and Elliott accompanied the state men to Salem, where they were joined by Police Chief T. W. Thompson.

The raiders split into squads of three.

The officers were forced to break down a door at 94 Broadway in order to gain entrance into a back room. Paul Luciana was arrested when a quantity of alleged liquor was found. Luciana attempted to destroy evidence at the time, according to the sheriff's office.

James Cosgarea, Nick Burson and Steve George were arrested when liquor was found at a place on Depot st. Sales were being made, officers state.

Mary Buta is in the county jail following a raid at 61 East Pershing st.

State Operatives Banup, Cole, Fox and Lewis directed the raid. Evidence was destroyed in instances, according to the office.

The raid was the second staged in Columbiana county in two days in which state men participated. An arrest was made Thursday in New Waterford following activities in Unity township.

NO TRACE FOUND OF KENT CHILD

Case Parallels Orrville
Mystery; Search Is Intense

Kent, O., March 30. — The fate of Edwin Cox, 9 year old Brady Lake boy, missing since Wednesday, was as deeply shrouded in mystery today as that of Melvin Horst, 4, who disappeared from Orrville, O., last Dec. 27.

In many respects the two cases are parallel. The same two theories that were advanced in the Horst mystery are being down by authorities who are attempting to clear up the Cox boy's disappearance—either he was kidnapped by enemies of the family, or run down by a motorist who then made off with the boy.

County Detective Selden Sanford was in Cleveland today where he hopes to question the ex-convict who was sentenced to the Ohio penitentiary three years ago on testimony offered by relatives of the Cox family.

Practically all of the cottages at Brady Lake, where the boy's parents' live, were searched yesterday. Edwin was last seen Wednesday afternoon after he had left school here. Several companions told of seeing him accept a ride in a laundry truck.

Other persons have reported that a stranger attempted to pick up several children in his automobile here early this week. Every angle of the case is being investigated by police and county authorities.

HEAVY TRUCK DAMAGES ROAD

Warren Firm Will Face
Court to Answer For Overload

Lisbon, March 30. — A representative of Kistler Brothers company of Warren, will appear before Judge Lodge Riddle in the probate court to answer to a charge of having broken down one of Columbiana county's highways by driving an overloaded truck over the same.

On Friday Sheriff W. J. Barlow and Deputy Gomer Lewis were called to a point on the Springfield-Youngstown road, just off the Cox highway east of Columbiana, where a truck, heavily loaded with iron castings, had broken through the macadam road, and sunk in soft earth, to the hubs.

The driver of the truck was not present when the officers arrived, as he had abandoned the truck to call his employers for assistance.

The Kistler firm at Warren was notified and as soon as possible they sent a second truck to divide the load, and to pull the stranded truck out of the mud.

Members of the firm agreed to appear before Judge Lodge Riddle and answer to the violation of the law which is in force during the spring thawing season.

SCENERY—LET'S HAVE IT

With the return of the birds, the croaking of frogs, the bursting of buds and the opening of the used-car lots, it cannot be long now until the hatchet and the saw will be hauled out by the chap who dreams of a fortune in selling cabbages, hot-dogs or gasoline to the wayfarer, who will soon be driving to the country.

There was a time when one might find some joy and inspiration in taking a jaunt into the country. It would seem, however, that that pleasant time has passed into the discard as has many another diversion and that commercialized amusement is to be the only final objective of a Sunday afternoon.

If one should fare forth to view field and wood and thus escape for awhile the multitude of signs which catch the eye at every turn of the head in the city, he is doomed to disappointment. Where the view is best he is sure to see a home-made invitation to try Jake's Red-hot or to visit Eddie's Do Come Inn.

If his interest in quaint and picturesque farmsteads, the chances are excellent that a ramshackle shed or stand hides its attractiveness. Naturally one doesn't wish to deny the farmer the revenue derived from the sale of his products. If his life depends upon unsanitary roadside selling—and that on Sunday—the chances of a greater business are all on the side of making the place more attractive.

The billboards which stand between the motorist and every worthwhile vista, too, must be condemned by every thoughtful person. We have them off of the highways proper. The next move is to get them off of the scenery.

Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the federal board of public roads, thinks that the move to clean up the roadsides is just starting.

"There is little of fairness," said he in a recent address in Boston, "in the fact that the industries which depend upon the highways for their whole business should be the worst offenders in erecting and maintaining thousands of glaring, disfiguring signs along our streets and roadways.

"It is to the credit to many of the producers of the best products that their wares are not advertised in this way. Also note should be made of certain oil companies and others who have withdrawn from the practice.

"The billboard advertisers," he went on to say, "are not the only offenders against the highways. Nine out of every ten of the roadside filling stations and lunch stands merit the condemnation rather than the patronage of the passer-by."

"I am convinced," he said in conclusion, "that a very large part of the favorable comment made about the roads of other countries, and the pleasure of driving over them, come from the planting and care of the roadsides. We cannot longer fail to make roadside protection and beauty a truly national project."

What Others Say

REMOVING CAPITAL EYESORES

The movement to beautify the national capital is given splendid impetus by the decision of congress to do away with the rows of gray, prison-like structures that greet the eye of visitors to Washington and to construct, in their place, a beautiful public park. These ramshackle old eyesores are the "temporary" buildings erected during the war to house emergency government offices and records. They stand on land that lies between the railroad station and the capitol buildings and offer a vista that is anything but edifying. In view of the length of time these structures have been standing it is a bit incongruous to call them "temporary," but such was the intention when they were erected. In late years, they have housed the bulk of government wartime records. Now that the new national archives building is completed, the last excuse for their existence is removed and they are slated to go. Americans have every reason to be proud of their capital, but the national conscience has only recently been awakened to the fact that many of the potentialities for beauty have been sadly neglected. Washington offers every opportunity for beautification and, indeed, with all its neglect, the city stands out as one of the most inviting and attractive in the country. There is no reason why it can not be made into a Mecca for visitors, native and foreign, who will carry away as pleasant impressions of it as may be obtained in any Old World beauty spot. Any move in this direction deserves the hearty support and encouragement of all Americans.—Columbus Dispatch.

LISTLESS, LAZY DAYS DUE TO WINTER FOOD

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
(United States Senator from New York)

This is the season when we should like to think of lighter food, as well as lighter clothing. It may be we have had many a meal of buckwheat cakes, pork gravy, spareribs, and all the fixings of substantial breakfast. All our meals in winter are likely to be pretty heavy.

DR. COPELAND

Perhaps that is why we get "spring fever." We think it is the season, when as a matter of fact, the symptoms are the natural effect of the diet we have followed.

Fortunately for us, modern methods of refrigeration and express trains, fast steamers and even the air plane, are placing at our disposal the fresh things of the whole world. Even in the country districts, the automobile has shortened the distance to markets where fresh fruits and vegetables can be found.

In olden times the men on sailing vessels, taking long voyages, had scurvy. That old fashioned disease is old fashioned indeed. But, almost every ancient ailment has its modern counterpart. It is not likely to be precisely the same, but it is

While all literary or cultural affairs seem to be advanced by the position of Mercury parallel Sol, yet the affliction position of the moon bestows a menacing aspect on these. There is danger of fraud or misrepresentation, therefore great care should be used in signing any kind of writing.

Those whose birthday it is may find certain of their interests advanced during the year, which will be lively and give opportunities. But safeguard against fraud or misrepresentation should be exercised. A child born on this day may be very clever and versatile, but will need to have high principles, with regard to honor and veracity inculcated.

God's hours are never late.—Helen Hunt.

For Monday, April 1

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is a propitious one for new projects and for matters pertaining to domestic, social, artistic or affectional interests. But these new affairs may not advance beyond the stage of planning and initial launching, since there is a stubbornly tenacious obstruction likely to end in postponements. Judicious consideration should be given to changes and travel.

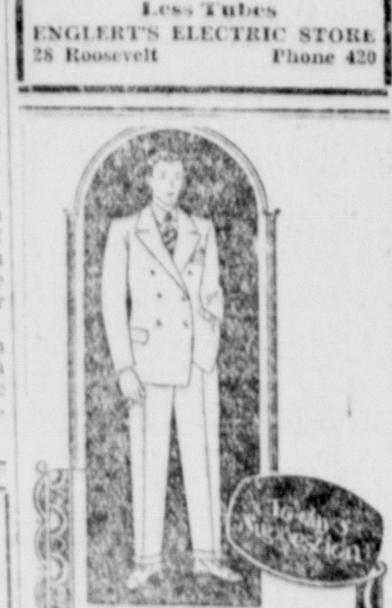

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of some opportunities for new ventures, and while these may be taken under advisement, it is possible that they may be delayed or postponed, but not fatally. Changes should be made with caution. Safeguard money. Purely personal relations may give satisfaction.

A child born on this day may be endowed with many exceptional talents and social graces which will assure it a good position. Nevertheless, it may have to work hard in life to overcome obstacles. It may be restless and fond of change.

All nature is but art unknown to thee, all chance direction which thou dost not see.—Pope.

CATHOLICS PLAN DRIVE TO HELP CHARITY FUNDS

Entire Diocese Will Take Part In Bolstering Corporation

BISHOP SCHREMBES ACTIVE IN WORK

Hope for Membership of 70,000 Before End Of Campaign

Every Catholic in the diocese of Cleveland will be asked to become members this year of the Catholic Charities corporation during Catholic Charities week, beginning April 21.

The canvass for membership, announced today, will bring into the field an army of 6,000 workers for the most sweeping endeavor in the history of the diocese. Membership dues, as well as all donations, will be used for the continuance and broadening of the Catholic charitable work sponsored by the corporation.

Letters to present members of the Catholic Charities corporation, Bishop Joseph Schrembs, chairman of the board of trustees, urges a doubling-up of membership. He believes a membership of at least 70,000 is possible before the end of the canvass. He strongly urges this as a goal, asking every member to enlist as an active worker.

Bishop Expresses Desires
The bishop desires every member of Catholic societies and organizations within the diocese to become workers in the canvass.

Bishop Schrembs has expressed the hope that the funds to be raised will hasten the taking of all homeless Catholic girls to Parmadale, where facilities now permit only boys to be cared for. Later on, the homeless aged of the diocese also will be cared for at Parmadale.

Membership in the Catholic Charities corporation, an organization of laymen, chartered under the state laws, and unique in church annals, is so arranged that any Catholic, regardless of income, may join. "A membership is fit every purse" is the slogan. Yet every member, no matter what his contribution, has a personal share in all that the corporation is doing.

Parmadale and other Catholic orphanages of the Cleveland diocese last year cared for more than 1800 homeless boys and girls. The Cleveland Community fund defrays the current operating expenses incurred in the care of Cleveland children only.

Explain Reasons
Funds for all other purposes, including the care of children outside of Cleveland, new buildings, and equipment at Parmadale, payment on interest, and principal, and other expenses must be obtained through other means. That is the reason for the annual Catholic Charities week.

The campaign to begin April 21 is thoroughly organized to cover the 14 counties of the diocese. Each of 219 parishes comprises a unit, with the pastor as leader, directing a group of laymen, with captain, lieutenant, and workers. The canvass will begin at the same moment throughout the diocese, and reports of the result will keep filtering back to headquarters of the Catholic Charities corporation in the Guarantee Title building, Cleveland.

Thomas K. Maher, is president of the corporation, and Thomas Coughlin, vice president. Rev. C. H. LeBlond is director of charities for the diocese.

SALEM CHURCHES

JONES LAW IS USED IN OHIO

First Indictments Under New Measure In Cleveland

Cleveland, March 30.—First indictments in Ohio under the new Jones "five and ten" law against liquor law violators, were awaiting prosecution by Assistant U. S. District Attorney John B. Oum today. The federal grand jury returned the true bills late yesterday against seven men and one woman.

The woman is Hattie Smith, nee-gress, hostess at a Cleveland night club. It is her third violation according to court records. John Alvarez, Argentine aviator, arrested recently in Canton, O., was indicted as were Homer S. Whitney and John Keller, of Berea; John S. Gardner of Cleveland (fourth offense); Anthony and Tony Todaro and Paul Castiglione, all of Cleveland. All furnished bond except Whitney and Keller who are in the county jail awaiting arraignment. Whitney is a former U. S. customs agent.

The Jones law is called the "five and ten" law because it provides a maximum penalty of five years in the penitentiary and $10,000 fine for liquor law violators.

Oum said he did not expect any more difficulty in obtaining convictions than under previous and less rigorous federal liquor laws.

ANGRY HUSBAND KILLS HIS WIFE

Turns Gun On Self, But Is Not Successful In Suicide Attempt

Cleveland, March 30.—Thomas Morich, 33, after confessing that he shot and killed his estranged wife, Rose, 34, late yesterday and then turned the gun on himself in an unsuccessful suicide attempt, today was to be formally charged with murder.

In the police ward at City hospital the prisoner was reported still in serious condition but with a good chance to recover.

Mrs. Morich left her husband last Saturday and went away with another man, according to acquaintances. Morich learned that she was living in a rooming house, visited her Wednesday and Thursday nights and tried to persuade her to come back to him, it is reported.

He went to her again late yesterday, they quarreled and he shot her, according to his own confession. He then shot himself, inflicting a deep scalp wound and walked to a doctor's office where the wound was dressed. Weakened by loss of blood he was arrested and removed to the hospital.

Patriarchs Militant Are Planning Play

A two-act mystery play, "Diamonds and Detectives" will feature the program at an entertainment to be given by the ladies' auxiliary, Patriarchs Militant, next Wednesday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall, Broadway.

The cast for the play includes: Mrs. William Arnold, Mrs. James Goodwin, Mrs. Wilford Miller, Mrs. C. H. Belts, Mrs. William Reese, Mrs. W. P. Davison, Mrs. A. I. Getz, Mrs. J. L. Shriver, Mrs. E. L. Graber, Mrs. Lawrence Strawn, Mrs. R. W. Harris. The other part of the program will be readings and music.

STYLE EDICTS

Paris, March 30.—New spring undies are not as scanty as a few seasons ago, for they are following the general trend of feminine frills, ruffles and circular flounces. They are also much more elaborate, with heavy trimmings of lace or embroidery.

A lovely new lingerie material is called "tigress," which is a very fine silk voile but as durable as its name implies. It comes in all the charming new shades used for undies as well as new printed patterns which will be very popular for lingerie this spring. White satin is also being much used, trimmed with bands of fine linen.

The three-piece model continues to be the most popular. Knickers, bodice and slip in one article, with the waistline coinciding with that of the frock worn over it and the slip cut on the same lines as the skirt.

Lingerie models with a tailored feeling are shown for wear with morning, sport and tailored models, usually cut on straight simple lines with only pipings for self-tone but contrasting materials for trimming. Tailored nighties have shoulder-yokes, turn-over collars, buttons and only an occasional skirt of knive sleeves are entirely absent or very short, sometimes even covered to a rounded petal of the fabric covering the shoulder. French nighties are generally very short in length, coming to about eight or ten inches from the ground.

One of the shops is making a charming new beige crepe de Chine night gown trimmed with narrow bands of black tulle with a black tiger done in points of tulle on the left front. A pale pink voile comes with narrow rows of pink lace in linen in a cross-cross pattern on the upper part, and a yellow crepe de Chine nightie has yellow rickrack around the hem and small roses formed of the brand around the neckline and pocket. Another in pink triple voile has a large fichu of black lace. Black trimmings, by the way, strike a distinctive note in spring lingerie.

A new area of tin ore deposits has been discovered in the southwestern portion of Tasmania.

Your Last Chances to Serve Oysters—in Season

Only a little while longer and oysters will be out of season. Make the most of what time is left. Oysters can be prepared in a number of ways, and anyway at all they are a delightful appetizer. True, they have not much food value, very little indeed, as compared with meat or other fish. But they can be combined with other foods so as to contain the best features of both—the salt-sea flavor of the oyster, and the nutritive qualities of milk in a stew, and so on.

Many people think the only way to eat an oyster is raw—that cooking spoils it. Of course, this is a matter of taste, not of dietetics. Remember that oysters, to be at their best, should be alive until the last possible moment. That's the best way to insure freshness and flavor. Also, when you have the man open oysters, let him open them on the deep, not on the flat shells. Sometimes marketmen carelessly open oysters on the flat shells, letting all the juice run off wastefully. If on the deep shell you can use the juice, whether to be served raw or included in a cooked dish.

And, of course, if the oysters are to be served raw they must be kept thoroughly chilled, and served on a bed of chopped ice. Even if they are used as a cocktail, it is better to serve them on the half shell in a bed of ice, with a little glass of cocktail sauce in the center, than the more convenient method of marinating the oysters in the glass of cocktail sauce and serving them thus to each guest. The first method means a little more trouble for the guest in handling each oyster, but the flavor is better and the oysters stay colder served that way.

Here are a few recipes for cocktail sauce:

Oyster Cocktail Sauce
One tablespoon catsup, one tablespoon grated horseradish, one tablespoon lemon juice, one-half tablespoon vinegar, one-half tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoon salt.

Mix together and keep cold. Here is another kind of cocktail sauce: One tablespoon olive oil, one tablespoon vinegar, one-half onion, one-half teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, one-half teaspoon salt. Dash of tabasco.

Mix together oil, vinegar, grated onion, lemon juice and other ingredients and keep cold.

Another way of preparing oysters as an entree is as follows:

Broiled Oysters

One dozen oysters on half shell, six slices of bacon, one-half lemon, three tablespoons of chopped pickle.

Lay the oysters on the rack to go in the oven. Place on each oyster a little of the chopped pickle, half a slice of bacon, sprinkle with lemon juice. Place under the broiler and when bacon begins to curl, turn each slice over and let the other brown. By that time the oysters will have cooked sufficiently and be ready to serve.

Oyster Stew

Three cups of milk, one cup of cream, one dozen large oysters, one tablespoon butter, one-half teaspoon salt, one-quarter teaspoon pepper.

Examine oysters carefully to remove bits of shell. Put milk in a double boiler, and when it comes to boiling point, add the oysters and their juice. When oysters curl, remove saucepan from fire, add butter, seasoning, the cup of cream whipped and serve at once with crackers.

What's Home Without a Filing Box?

"Where is that woman Jane told me about, who wants sewing by the day? I had her address, but where is it?"

"Whatever did I do with that clipping telling how to take coffee stains out?"

"Where is that receipt for Icebox Cake?"

A dozen times a day the housekeeper needs some information, and though it's somewhere on the premises (or buried in her own head) she can't remember. Here's where a hint from business is of inestimable help. No business man tries to remember anything that's not a secret. It's written down, filed, and can be obtained in the twinkling of an eye and the offices of a good file clerk.

Of course no home needs an elaborate system. But you'd be surprised what a marvelous saver of time, work and temper a little filing box, only four or five inches long, can be. You can buy one cheaply, with cards to fit and everything, and in a year you'll look on it as an indispensable possession.

There are three things which ought to go in such a reference box, and they are commonly needed by everyone who keeps house. First, a record of addresses. Second, a place for recipes you have tried and liked, or mean to try. Third, a section for general information.

Get a box of wood or metal, size about 4 by 5 inches. Also a hundred cards to fit. Also two sets of alphabetical guide cards to fit. You can purchase, already printed, the cookery guide cards which are titled "Entree, soup, fish, meats, desserts" and so forth.

The recipe department will help you a lot if you use it regularly. Whenever you make a dish that is especially pleasing, write it down on a card and stick it in its proper place. You will gradually accumulate a cook book of your own, of tried and liked dishes. Or, if you read a recipe you like, clip it and stick it in the box in its place. Then after you've tried it, you can paste it on a card for permanent use, or if you find you don't like the dish, throw the recipe away.

The alphabetical sections are first, for addresses, telephone numbers, of social acquaintances, business names so that you can put your hand on these facts at a moment's notice.

The other alphabetical section is likely to be even more useful, if you

Mahoning County Farm Notes

Miss Anne Biebricker, house furnishing specialist, from Ohio State university will be in Mahoning county for a series of meetings on color in the home.

District meetings are to be held as follows: Women from Springfield, Boardman, Poland, Ellsworth, Beaver, Green, Austintown, Jackson and Canfield townships are invited to attend the meeting to be held in the M. E. church in Canfield Thursday, April 4, beginning at 2 p. m.

Those living in Milton, Berlin, Woshen and Smith townships are invited to attend the meeting at Snodgrass Grange hall on Wednesday, April 3 beginning at 11 a. m. with a covered dish dinner.

The meeting for Coltsville Township is to be held at the home of Al. G. Traenkle on Friday afternoon, April 5, beginning promptly at 2 p. m.

As November 1929 is the 50th anniversary of the organization of Mahoning County, a grange, a schedule for "Traveling Chapter" was outlined as follows: Milton to Dublin, Dublin to Garfield, Garfield to Ellsworth, Ellsworth to Goshen, Goshen to Smith, Smith to North Lima, North Lima to Greenford, and Greenford back to Milton. The first master, Robert Weasner, 93 years old, is living and we hope he will be able to be with us at the Golden Jubilee in November at Milton.

After a general discussion, Greenford grange had a surprise feature in the form of baskets of Rome Beauties and plates of fruit cookies, which all did ample justice.

The Smith Township Farm Bureau meeting will be held Monday evening, April 1, at the Snodgrass grange hall.

The North Jackson Farm Bureau meeting will be held Saturday evening, April 6, at the Jackson school building. Further information will be published next week.

Three truckloads of cattle and hogs were shipped to the Producers Cooperative Commission association in Cleveland this week. Anyone having any stock to ship, kindly notify the Farm Bureau office at Canfield.

ORDINANCE NO. 290305-B
To levy special assessments for the improvement of Home Circle Street between its East intersection with Grant Street and its West intersection with Grant Street by the construction of a Sanitary Sewer thereon.

Be it ordained by the Council of the City of Salem, State of Ohio:

Section 1. That the assessment of the cost and expense of improving Home Circle Street between its East intersection with Grant Street and its West intersection with Grant Street by the construction of a Sanitary Sewer thereon, amounting in the aggregate to $1,564.10, as reported to this Council on the 15th day of January, 1929, by the City Engineer, notice of the filing of which assessment has been given as required by law, be and is hereby adopted and confirmed, and that there be and is hereby levied upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting on said improvement between the intersections aforesaid, the several amounts reported as aforesaid, which assessments, together with the description of the said lots and lands are now on file in the office of the Clerk of this Council and which assessments are at the rate of $1.71 per front foot, and are not in excess of the special benefits to said property.

Section 2. That the total assessment against each lot or parcel of land shall be payable in cash within 30 days from and after the passage of this ordinance, or at the option of the owner in five (5) annual installments with interest at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of the same. All cash payments shall be made to the Treasurer of said City. All assessments and installments thereof remaining unpaid at the expiration of the said 30 days shall be certified by the Clerk of this Council to the County Auditor as provided by law, to be by him placed on the tax duplicate and collected as other taxes are collected.

Section 3. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed March 5, 1929.

COURT NEWS

Lisbon, March 30. — Esther Weybrecht Wyland, of Haverorton, married Allen Wyland, in Lisbon, just one year ago, and she has now appeared in the court for a divorce.

She says her husband refused to work and support her and she has been compelled to work ever since her marriage. She also asks the court to restore her to her former name, Esther Weybrecht.

Wyland lives in Sebring.

When Mrs. Geraldine Rowe of East Liverpool, married Basil Rowe more than three years ago, she says he agreed not only to look after her, but to support Ralph Dettrel, her child by a former marriage.

In place of him doing this, she has worked and provided a home for him, and now asks the court to give her a divorce.

Rowe is employed and Judge Lones has made an order restraining employers from paying money owing him, until after the wife's claim for alimony has been heard and adjusted.

RESOLUTION NO. 290319

Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Salem, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all members elected thereto concurring:

Section 1. That it is necessary to improve Madison Avenue from Evans Street to Maple Street by the construction of a Sanitary Sewer thereon.

Be it resolved by the Council of the City of Salem, State of Ohio, three-fourths of all members elected thereto concurring:

Section 1. That the grade of said street as improved shall be the existing grade.

Section 2. That the plans, specifications, estimates and profile of the proposed improvement hereon, prepared by the engineer and filed in the office of the Director of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved.

Section 3. That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fifth (1-5) thereof shall be assessed by said Council upon the following described lots and lands, to-wit: All lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement, which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefited by said improvement, and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of the preliminary and other surveys, and of printing and publishing the notices, resolutions and ordinances required, and the cost of serving of said notices, the cost of the construction, together with interest on the bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenses.

Section 4. That the assessments to be levied shall be paid in five annual installments, with interest on said bonds at the same rate as shall be borne by the bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of the same.

Section 5. That the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days after the passage of the ordinance aforesaid.

Section 6. That the bonds of the City of Salem shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

Section 7. That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement not specially assessed, including the cost of interest, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, and the costs and expenses of any appropriation promised by any owner of adjoining lands and interest therein, and the costs and expenses of any such award, shall be paid from the Ohio Mill Tax Levy Fund, or by the issuance of bonds in the manner provided by law.

Section 8. This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed March 18, 1929.

In Playhouses Of Salem

Some of the spring season's most remarkable cinematic productions will make their appearance on the silver screen of Salem's play centers during the next six days. First class vehicles of the first division in ratings by metropolitan reviewers appear at each playhouse.

The State brings the unequalled in mystery and romance, "Canary Murder Case," the poignant "Desert Nights," and Buster Keaton's newest and best, the "Spite Marriage." At the Royal is scheduled for the first two nights of the week, "One Round Hogan," a realistic picture of fistiana as it is, with Ted Wells' western thriller "Born to the Saddle" rounding out the week.

"The Barker," that great story of carnivals and circuses with real environment of traveling shows featured dramatically, comes to the Grand on Monday, to play for three days. Then John Barrymore stars in another drama of late production, "The Tempest," the rest of the week.

The past week saw the passing of a fine group of pictures, but it appears that the coming week's bill will be of equal prominence.

Tonight's Features
The popular B. F. Keith vaudeville unit, Count Del Ray and His Entertainers concludes a three-day run at the Grand tonight, with the picture "Cheyenne," Marquis Preferred is at the State, and the Royal features Reginald Denny in "The Night Bird."

Monday night is the usual "china nite" at the State, when feminine ticket buyers receive a piece of Salem-made chinaware. William Powell, James Hall, Louise Brooks, and Jean Arthur are the stars in the screen feature, the mysterious S. S. Van Dine's mysterious "Canary Murder Case Mystery."

All lovers of good mystery, good acting—the action that is swift and pulsing will enjoy the narrative, which characterizes Powell in a role that is far above his former appearance here. He enacts Philo Vance, a free-lance detective, who makes crime his hobby and solves the mystery of the death of the "Canary" merely through psychological observation. The story moves swiftly, surely and logically, from the finding of the stage player's dead body in her apartment to the mystifying details of the murder to the discovery of the perpetrator.

Fight Picture
Monte Blue is seen in the role of an aspiring young heavyweight who has acquired the money-making habit of knocking out his opponents in the first round, in "One Round Hogan," at the Royal, Monday and Tuesday. It's an affair entirely different from the proverbial Alger rise of the aspiring kayo artist. Blue comes up in fistiana, but the difficulties involved in the rise are new to both screen and fiction, and present an admirably told tale.

"Desert Nights" brings John Gilbert and Ernest Torrence in a picture of the fiery and sandy deserts of Asia and Africa, where Gilbert appears as a heavily bearded manager of a diamond mine.

The story is one of a terrible revenge, laid in the desert wastes to great advantage with Gilbert as the dominating figure, both as a prisoner for robbery and later as the savior of a girl from her bogus father. Mary Nolan is the girl.

"The Barker"
Every once in a while a picture comes along that takes us completely out of ourselves and transports us into a new and unfamiliar environment. For a time we live the lives of the players of the story, suffer vicariously, and joy with them in their triumphs.

Of such a type is "The Barker" in which Milton Sills is the leading player. Dorothy Mackaill is the leading effeminate player and Betty Compson is Sills' sweetheart. One-eyed Connolly, the famed gate-crashers has an important role.

Camilla Horn and Barrymore divide honors in "The Tempest." It's set in the midst of a great Russian revolution, with Barrymore as a patriotic peasant, in love with one of the elite. An excellent opening for a powerful plot, this.

Detroit — Jolly Pearl Stanley, weight 643, height 4 feet 5, is dead. For 15 years she had been a fat lady in carnival shows. She was 27 years old.

STIMSON NOT SATISFIED IN
SINKING CASECoast Guard Information
Is Not Sufficient,
Is ClaimSTART OF PURSUIT
TO BE DETERMINEDFrench Enter Affair As
Citizen Was Killed
During Chase

Washington, Mar. 30.—Not satisfied with the information forwarded by the coast guard on the sinking of the Canadian auxiliary schooner "Im Alone," the state department is pressing for a clarifying report on certain aspects of the pursuit by the coast guard cutters Walcott and Dexter during two days prior to the sinking.

Secretary Stimson, his second day in office, is making a close study of the "Im Alone" case, preliminary to meeting the expected onslaughts from three governments, British, Canadian and French.

As soon as the British and French ambassadors and the Canadian minister hear from their respective governments, it is understood they will repeat the representations already made to Secretary Kellogg before he retired.

Paul Claudel, the French ambassador, will appear, in the case for the first time when he sees Stimson. The French only learned that Leon Mangay, the drowned member of the crew, was a French citizen three days ago. They are awaiting further details from the French consul general at New Orleans.

One highly-important point Stimson is said to want enlightenment on, is the position from which the pursuit started, whether it was in fact within the 12-mile limit claimed under the tariff act of 1922.

The coast guard asserts the run runner was hovering eight miles off shore when accosted by the Walcott. There has never been mention in any official report, as far as it can be learned, of just where the Walcott first picked up the "Im Alone."

She was just "well within the 12 mile limit," according to the coast guard version. It was considered likely that the warrant officers commanding the two cutters will be asked to furnish full reckoning data they made at the time, if they in fact, made reckonings.

To the British and Canadian case, however, those questions are of no importance. Answers to them are essential to make a case for the American government. The British are said to be standing pat on their original contention that "hot pursuit" is only permitted from within the three-mile limit.

Washington.—The department of the interior estimates that 200,000,000 tons of coal still are underground in the United States.
